The Officer who commanded the troops on the occasion reports: 'About an hour later in the day, Dr. Douglas, 2nd Battalion 24th Regiment, and the four privates referred to, gallantly manning the second gig, made their way through the surf almost to the shore, but finding their boat was half-filled with water, they retired. A second attempt made by Dr. Douglas and party proved successful, five of us being safely passed through the surf to the boats outside. A third and last trip got the whole of the party left on shore safe to the boats.' It is stated that Dr. Douglas accomplished these trips through the surf to the shore by no ordinary exertion. He stood in the bows of the boat, and worked her in an intrepid and seamanlike manner, cool to a degree, as if what he was then doing was an ordinary act of everyday life. The four privates behaved in an equally cool and collected manner, rowing through the roughest surf when the slightest hesitation or want of pluck on the part of any one of them would have been attended by the gravest results. It is reported that seventeen officers and men were thus saved from what must otherwise have been a fearful risk, if not certainty of death." HART'S ARMY GUIDE.

INTRODUCTION.

IN the limited space at our disposal it is quite impossible to deal at length with the Regulations now in force respecting admission of gentlemen, to the Army as commissioned officers. It is our endeavour, therefore, to give as much information as possible in a concise and convenient form dealing with the principal elements and conditions of the service as are necessary to be understood by all those premeditating a military career. His Majesty's Government expends large sums annually upon the training of strong and healthy young gentlemen as officers in the British Army. Every opportunity of adding to his knowledge is given to the enthusiast, and every assistance rendered him in an endeavour to raise the physical and intellectual standing of the Army even from the high grade it has already achieved. There is no finer life than that of a British officer when his soul is in his work, and when his real and earnest objects in life are patriotism to his country, loyalty to his King, and the honour of his Regiment.

The Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, are maintained for the purpose of affording a special military education to candidates for commissions in the Royal Artillery, Royal Engineers, Cavalry, Infantry, and Army Service Corps. A candidate must be unmarried, and will not be accepted unless, in the opinion of the Army Council, he is in all respects suitable to hold a commission in the Army. The general course pursued in entering the Army is through either Woolwich or Sandhurst, or through the Militia or Imperial Yeomanry. We propose, therefore, to deal first with

THE ROYAL MILITARY ACADEMY.

Commission up to and including June, 1905 :—

Notice is duly given as to dates, and applications should be made for admission to the examinations to the Secretary, Civil Service Commission, Burlington Gardens, London, W. This form must be filled up in the candidate's own handwriting, and must be received by the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission not later than 1st April or 1st September respectively. Applications received after 15th May or 15th October are not accepted under any circumstances. If no acknowledgment of a form of application sent in be received by the applicant within four days he should at once write to the Secretary, as above. A candidate must make no change in his selection after the examination has begun.

A Birth Certificate must be produced by the candidate when called upon or if that cannot be produced, a certificate of baptism or other proof.

The Subjects of the Examination and the maximum number of marks obtainable are as follows :—

CLASS I.				Marks.	} Compulsory.

French or German	2,000
Mathematics I.	2,000
CLASS II.				Marks.	} Optional.

German or French	2,000
Latin or Greek	2,000
Science	2,000

All the subjects of Class I. must be taken up. Only two of the subjects of Class II. may be taken up, and if one of these subjects be a modern language it must be different from the modern language selected in Class I.

250 marks will be allowed for Freehand Drawing if taken up by the candidate in addition to the subjects mentioned above. The highest total of marks will determine the candidate's place in the competitive list.

Medical Examination.—All successful candidates will be examined by a Medical Board in London, and no candidate will be accepted unless he be pronounced physically fit. The Board has power (a) to pass the candidate as fit; (b) to report the candidate as unfit, but suggest an operation for the cure of some defect and recommend re-examination after such operation, or, in the case of a candidate being slightly below the regulation height, chest girth, &c., to recommend his entry into the Academy conditionally to his having reached the standard before the end of the course; (c) to reject a candidate as physically unfit. Rejected candidates may present themselves for re-examination by an Appeal Board which assembles a few days later. Notice of appeal to be given within four days of the first examination, by the parent or guardian, to the Director-General, Army Medical Service, 68, Victoria Street, Westminster, S.W., accompanied by a fee of four guineas. The fee will be returned if the candidate is returned fit.

No relaxation of the eyesight test is ever allowed. The decision of the Appeal Board will, in all cases, be absolutely final.

Preliminary Medical Examination.—A candidate may, on making application to the Secretary, War Office, 68, Victoria Street, London, S.W., accompanied by a fee of two guineas, undergo a thorough Medical Examination before commencing his studies. Not more than two years must elapse between the date the candidate is examined and the date he competes. The decision of this Board is not binding, and carries no claim at the later examination. A preliminary medical examination is advised where any doubt of passing exists, as it may save expense and the mortification of rejection. By such an examination any serious physical disqualification would be revealed.

King's Cadets are appointed by the Secretary of State for War from the sons of officers of the Army, Navy, Marine, and permanent Colonial Military Forces or irregular troops, when acting with the regular forces in the field who have fallen in action, or have died of wounds received in action, or of disease contracted on service abroad, and who have left their families in reduced circumstances. King's Cadets are granted an educational allowance of £40 a year, tenable between the ages of 13 and 18.

Sons of officers who have retired by the sale of their commissions or who have surrendered their half pay are ineligible for King's Cadetships.

King's Cadets must be successful in open competitive examination, and applications to attend the examination should be made as in the case of ordinary cadets.

If the candidate is the son of an officer in the Army, he must apply for a King's Cadetship to the Secretary, War Office; or to the Secretary of the Admiralty, if the son of an officer in the Navy or Royal Marines. The application should be accompanied by an extract from the register of candidate's birth.

Terms of Payment for cadets are regulated by the Royal Warrant for Pay, which is amended from time to time. The amount to be contributed on behalf of a cadet while at the Royal Military Academy, or Royal Military College, depends upon the position held by his father (whether living or deceased) as an officer in the Army or Navy, or private gentleman. The amount varies from £20 (or, in the case of a King's Cadet, nil) to £150 yearly, payable half-yearly in advance. For the guidance of candidates, full particulars as to terms of payment may be found in Articles 673 to 679 of the Royal Warrant for Pay.

Additional Payments are required on behalf of each cadet, other than a King's Cadet, on joining, towards covering the expense of uniform, books, library and recreation, &c., of £35, and at the commencement of the third term of residence a further sum of £15. Each cadet will be required to take with him the articles of clothing, of which he will receive notice, and which must afterwards be kept up at his own expense. He will also be required to pay the regulated contribution in advance, for each half-year of the time during which he remains under instruction.

Control of the Academy is under the Commandant, who will report to the Secretary, War Office, on all matters concerning the Academy. A Chief Instructor will act as second in command. The cadets will form a battalion, consisting of three companies, under strict superintendence of selected officers.

Rules and Regulations must be observed at all times. Cadets will be liable to rustication, or loss of place for misconduct. In more serious cases he may be removed or expelled. No expelled cadet can be admitted into the Naval, Military, Home, Colonial, or Indian Service. Unsatisfactory progress or moral or physical unfitness render a cadet liable to removal. Officers in uniform, and others known to be officers when not in uniform, Civilian Professors and Instructors must be saluted by the cadets.

No person belonging to the Academy must accept a present from a cadet or friend or relation of a cadet.

Standing orders must be observed for the proper conduct of the Academy.

The Course of Instruction is divided into four terms extended over two years. The Academy terms are :—

Spring Term.—From Wednesday of week in which 1st February falls to about 31st July, with about 10 days' vacation at Easter.

Autumn Term.—From Wednesday of week in which 15th September falls to about 23rd December.

Intermediate periods constitute vacations.

The subjects which form the ordinary course of studies during the two years are as follows :—Mathematics and Mechanics (Obligatory, Advanced, Voluntary) Artillery, Military, Engineering, Practical Geometry, Military Topography and Freehand Drawing, Military History and Tactics, Electricity and Magnetism, Chemistry and Physics, French or German, Military Law and Interior Economy, Infantry Drill, Riding and Horsemanship, Gymnastics, Signalling, Workshops.

Only one language may be taken up, which must be that in which he possesses such proficiency as will enable him to benefit by the advanced instruction given to the class.

Examinations are held at the end of each year of resident or independent examiners, and at the end of each half year by the staff of the Academy. To qualify for promotion to a higher class a cadet must obtain three-fifths of the total number of marks allotted for examination and term work for the whole obligatory course of each term. To count marks in an obligatory subject a cadet must obtain at least two-fifths of the total marks allotted to that subject. In a voluntary subject the counting minimum is one-quarter of the marks allotted. To qualify for a commission, a cadet must be in the 4th class, and must obtain three-fifths of the marks allotted to the obligatory course of that class. Cadets who have completed their course in the 4th class will be gazetted to commissions as Second Lieutenants in Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers. A cadet obtaining four-fifths of the marks of the whole course will be recorded as having passed with honours.

A cadet failing to obtain the qualifying minimum of marks for any term will LOSE THAT TERM. If he fails at the next examination he WILL BE REMOVED FROM THE ACADEMY. Cases of loss of time through illness at examinations or protracted absence will be considered by the Commandant.

The following prizes will be awarded to the cadets securing the highest marks in each subject at the end of the course :—

The King's Medal, The Pollock Medal, The Tombs Memorial Scholarship, The Benson Memorial Prize, and The Armstrong Memorial Prize are also awarded to the cadets obtaining the highest marks in certain specified subjects.

At each final examination a sword is given, as a special reward, to the most deserving cadet of his term.

ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE.

The Regulations respecting admission to the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, are practically the same as for the Royal Military Academy. In addition to King's Cadets there are appointed annually Honorary King's Cadets, King's Indian Cadets, and Honorary King's Indian Cadets. Full particulars as to King's Cadetships can be obtained from the Secretary, War Office, London ; or Secretary, Admiralty, London, if the candidate is the son of a Naval officer.

The Subjects forming the ordinary course of studies for the temporary two-term course are as follows :—Military Administration, Military Law, Military History, Strategy and Geography, Tactics, Military Engineering, Military Topography, Languages, Riding, Musketry, Gymnastics, Drill, and Signalling.

Cavalry Cadets are appointed to Commissions in British Cavalry only, on passing out of the College, and appointments remaining after the claims of the Cavalry Cadets are filled by order of merit.

Indian Commissions are offered to a certain number of Cadets of the Royal Military College. The remainder of the Cadets who have completed their course satisfactorily are eligible for commissions in the Infantry and Army Service Corps as vacancies occur, and are gazetted to regiments as second lieutenants in order of merit as far as possible.

Failure to obtain the qualifying minimum of marks by a Cadet means that he will lose that term. He will forfeit all claims to compete for appointment to the Indian Army, and if he fails at a subsequent examination he is removed from the College.

Prizes are awarded at the end of each final examination as follows :—

The " King's Medal " to the Cadet who passes out first on the list.

A prize for proficiency in each subject.

A sword, as a special reward to the most deserving Cadet of his term.

At the end of each autumn term the " Anson Memorial Sword " is given to the Cadet who passes out first.

COMMISSIONS TO OFFICERS OF SPECIAL RESERVE OR YEOMANRY.

It should be noted that after October, 1906, only TWO Commissions in the Royal Artillery will be granted to officers of the Militia Artillery.

Commissions in the Regular Army are granted to such Officers of Militia or Imperial Yeomanry who are successful candidates at a competitive examination.

The Qualifications and Conditions are that the candidate must be unmarried ; his age must not be over 25 or less than 20 years ; he must have served two annual trainings with the unit to which he belongs ; he must have obtained a " leaving " or " qualifying " certificate, or have passed one of the examinations allowed by the War Office as exempting him (particulars from War Office) ; he must have been attached to a Regular unit for two months, and must produce certificates as to character, &c., from his Commanding Officer.

" Leaving " and " Qualifying " Certificates must be produced before a candidate is allowed to attend a competitive examination. The prospective candidate should obtain a copy of the conditions upon which " Leaving " and " Qualifying " certificates are granted, as they are very important.

The Subjects of the examination are as follows:—(a) Military History and Strategy; (b) Tactics; (c) Military Engineering; (d) Military Topography; (e) Military Law; (f) Military Administration and Organisation. Candidates must obtain a qualifying minimum of $\frac{1}{4}$ of the marks on each paper and $\frac{1}{5}$ of the aggregate.

Medical Examination.—Each successful candidate is medically examined by a Medical Board in London, and no candidate will be eligible unless he is pronounced physically fit for H.M. Service. No relaxation of the eyesight test is ever allowed. Candidates may appeal if not passed, and the decision of the appeal Board must be considered final.
